SOCIAL WORK

Social workers grapple daily with the impact of poverty, inequality and social justice on the most vulnerable people in our society. Our books help practitioners, students and researchers in their endeavours to support people in times of great need.

We aim to publish books that help to address issues arising from inequalities across the world and our list confronts new and emerging challenges that students and practitioners face.

This season we publish important new monographs on child protection, new textbooks and the latest paperback editions of our flagship series, Research in Social Work, published with the European Social Work Research Association.

If you are interested in writing for our Social Work list, please contact Isobel.Bainton@bristol.ac.uk or visit our information for authors page to download our proposal guidelines.

Meet the editor

Isobel Bainton,
Commissioning Editor

Throughout the publication process, I maintain overall responsibility for the project and never lose the sense of pride and accomplishment when we receive the first copies from the printer. Once the book is published, it's great to watch how it is received and see the difference it makes.
